NUMBER 26.

WOOD, LOWDEN, LEAVE JOHNSON IN BALLOTING

RESULT OF THIRD BALLOT SHOWS GAINS FOR GENERAL AND THE GOVERNOR. LEADER HAS 287 WITH 497 NECESSARY FOR CHOICE.

The latest bulletins give results of first three ballots with Wood in lead and Wood and Lowden gaining on Johnson.

The main figures of the third ballot are: Wood 301, Lowden 262½ Johnson 138, Sproul 79½ Harding 68½ Coolidge 27, Butler 24, La. Follette 24.

Necessary for choice 493.

Through its special telegraphic service, the Record is following the Republican national convention news, and finds as we go to press that a platform has been adopted, the new National Committee named and we are now watching the first reel of that fascinating picture "The Battle of the Candidates."

Three names have thus far been presented, those of General Wood, Governor Lowden and Senator Johnson. Each was nominated by his native state. Governor Allen of Kansas named General Wood, Congressman Rodenberg of Illinois presented the name of Governor Lowden and C. S. Wheeler of California made the nominating speech for Senator Johnson. Each in turn was greeted by loud and prolonged demonstrations from the floor of the hall. That the old breach between the regular and Progressives has been forgotten was shown by the ovation given Uncle Joe Cannon, followed by the unanimous adoption by standing vote of a resolution of sorrow for the death of Colonel Roosevelt.

The platform adopted contains a plank covering the League of Nations, but the bulletins do not indicate the nature of that plank. A feature new to national conventions was the active participation of women in the work. Mrs. Roosevelt Robinson of New York made one of the seconding speeches for General Wood and Mrs. Lester Robbins of Illinois was among those who seconded the nomination of Governor Lowden. There was strong opposition to the election of Henry Lincoln Johnson, colored as national committeeman from Georgia, but Chairman Lodge declared Johnson elected and refused a roll call.

STAKE PRIMARY WILL MEET

Sunday afternoon in the Tabernacle the East and West Primaries will hold their annual conference. An interesting program has been outlined, the entertainment to be furnished entirely by the primary children in singing, readings and dramatizations of some of the past winter's lessons, illustrating the work that has been done by the primary children. A great deal of credit is due the instructors in their work with the children and parents should show their appreciation by good attendance at the conference. A hearty invitation is also extended the public to be in attendance.

FUNERAL SERVICES

FOR STAPELY INFANT

Funeral services over the infant of Velma Stapley were held Tuesday at the home of R. M. Warner. A large number of sympathizing friends and relatives were present. The speakers were Jos. H. Armstrong and President Henry W. Lunt. Elder Herbert W. Webster presided over the service. The singing was by the Tabernacle Choir under the leadership of Otto Fife. The floral offerings were profuse and very beautiful. Interment was made in the city cemetery.

The baby was operated on at Salt Lake City for telescoping of the intestine, and death followed the operation. The child's mother and grandmother and Miss Rilla Stapley had moved to Salt Lake just a week or two before, Mrs. Stapley having a position at the L. D. S. Hospital. The remains arrived here Tuesday.

H. H. Pinnoch, with his wife and son and daughter of Salt Lake City arrived here today on their way to California. They are visiting with relatives of this place for a few days and are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bengt Nelson.

WON $10,000 FOR POLITICAL IDEAS

These three young men won the $10,000 offered by the Republican National Committee in the platform suggestion contest—limited to young men under 25 years of age. Carl Smith Joslyn of Springfield, Mass., was first—winning $6000. Howard B. Wilson of Philadelphia, was second, getting $3000. W. P. Smith of Ann Arbor, Mich., was third—the award being $1000. All are college men and all served in the war. Their suggestions will be written into the Republican platform submitted to the Chicago convention.

SEWING CLUBS ARE NOW ORGANIZED IN PAROWAN

Information is received here thru Mr. A. L. Price, local Juvenile Club leader that club work is well under way at Parowan. The first club to complete its organization is that led by Miss Josephine Mitchell. In a meeting held last Tuesday in a lawn party Miss Mitchell's club started its season's work with much interest and demonstrated that hard work would be required by other clubs to catch them.

The members of the club are: La Priel Day, Mabel Adams, Lamar Lyman, Laura Mitchell, Georgia Parcell, Lorna Connell and Grace Adams. This club has arranged for meetings every Tuesday evening to discuss the problems that arise during the week's work. Contest and outings for the club are now being arranged for by Miss Mitchell.

Other clubs are being organized all through the county and it will be but a few days until reports will come in from them. All boys and girls in the county are urged to join these clubs and receive the benefits of the summer's instruction.

The Cedar post of the American Legion is behind a movement for a Friday half holiday for business houses in Cedar during the summer months. The post wants a baseball team and the games that go with such an organization. Unless a half holiday can be arranged, the games cannot come off. Saturday half holidays are hardly practicable here, hence the Friday movement. Already a majority of the business houses have signed an agreement to observe the proposed holiday and its general observance is assured.

SHE LEADS CALL ON TWO CONVENTIONS

Mrs. Maude Wood Park of Boston, chairman of the National League of Women Voters, is now in Chicago heading a delegation with a request to the Republicans that the issues vital to women be written into the party platform. The committee will then hold meetings at points across the continent as they go to call on the Democrats at San Francisco, June 28.

DIXIE FOREST RANGE IN EXCELLENT CONDITION

Forest Supervisor Mace and C. B. Arntson of the District office in Ogden have just completed an inspection trip of the two divisions of the forest, range conditions taking their special attention. On the Dixie side they found more forage and cattle in better condition than Mr. Mace has seen on that range in the four years of his administration. On the other side the season is much later, but the feed has started fine and prospects are the best. The supervisor is expecting District Forester L. F. Kneipp of Ogden and E. S. Shipp, official photographer for the service. Mr. Kneipp is making a general inspection trip and Mr. Shipp, who is from the Washington office, wishes to gather a collection of interesting pictures from the different forests. The party will go as far south as the Kaibab forest.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS VERSUS THE HAGUE

Gov. Frank O. Lowden Discusses Their Relative Value in Preserving World Peace.

(By Gov. Frank O. Lowden.)

When the war was over the whole world was in a state of suspense as to what might happen afterward. During those strenuous months of struggle when the flower of our young manhood was offering itself upon the battlefields of Europe, the whole world hoped that in some way out of that colossal conflict might come a better international understanding, better international relations, with the possibility of less frequent wars for the future. So to many of us it seemed that the time was ripe for taking up the work of the Hague international conferences, providing for judicial machinery for the settlement of international disputes, codifying international law so far as it is possible, bringing about closer relations between the nations, to the end that peace might prevail among the nations of the earth.

That was the aspiration of almost every human heart. We have failed to realize that aspiration for the reason that instead of adopting the idea of judicial determination of differences of a political alliance among the nations was created, and when that alliance was created, and given the name of the League of Nations it was seen by our people that instead of preventing future wars it was itself likely to prove the breeder of more wars.

So the Republican party in Washington, the majority of the Republican senators in the capitol, decided that such a covenant must be so limited by reservation as to make clear forever the fundamental principles upon which our government rests. It, therefore, adopted a reservation preserving forever in all its integrity the Monroe Doctrine, that doctrine under which for a hundred years we had lived on terms of amity with Europe.

It provided further that the sovereignty of the United States should be preserved at Washington. It also provided that no American soldier should ever cross the seas to engage in another war unless the Congress of the United States, selected by the American people, so decreed.

I have always felt that we overlooked the opportunity of a lifetime

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD ABRIDGED

Senator Smoot Serves Notice That Unimportant Material Will be Hereafter Excluded.

ADVANCE NOTICE GIVEN SENATORS MONTHS AGO

Expected That the Saving Thus Effected Will Materially Relieve Stringency So Far As the Congressional Record is Concerned.

Senator Reed Smoot of Utah, who is perhaps the most methodical and industrious man in the Senate, has carried into effect a threat he made months ago. He has put a stop to the promiscuous insertion in the Congressional Record of documents and articles, as well as long speeches that were never made in Congress. That is, he has stopped it so far as the Senate proceedings are concerned; over the House he has no control. The effect upon the Congressional Record which is the daily newspaper of Congress in full, is already noticeable.

Senator Smoot is chairman of the Joint Committee on Printing. He has long been inveighing against the expense of Congress of printing anything and everything in the Record and just recently has been warning the Senate about the shortage of print paper. But Senators paid little attention and went steadily ahead, loading up the Record day after day with matter that had nothing to do with the proceedings of Congress.

On March 1 Senator Smoot arose in his place and quietly announced that, beginning the following morning, he would object to any outside matter being printed in the Record with the exception of resolutions from State Legislatures or City Councils.

"I want the Senators to know that there will be no discrimination said he, 'It will apply to every Senator. The only way Senators will be allowed to get any such matter in the Record from now on will be by a vote of the Senate.'"

On the very next day, Senator McKellar tried the experiment of getting a newspaper article in the Record. All such insertions require unanimous consent and it has always been the practice of the Senate to grant it. Senator Smoot immediately objected and the article did not go in. Since then he has made two or three similar objections and now there is a great diminution in attempts to load up the Record with odds and ends of various kinds. One result is that the printed proceedings of the Senate each day occupy considerably less space than heretofore and the Congressional Record is saving paper.

To make such a reform absolute, of course, a Senator must be in his seat all through the sessions. He cannot loaf around in the cloakrooms without having something put over in his absence. But that feature does not bother Senator Smoot, who is almost invariably on the floor during sessions anyhow. He follows the routine proceedings of the Senate more closely than any other member. There is urgent need of paper economy, so far as the Record is concerned. For four consecutive days last week it was printed on four different kinds of paper.—Brooklyn Eagle.

in that we did not take up the great work of the Hague conferences where they left off, and go on to the creation of international courts so that we might arbitrate our international differences rather than fight them out on bloody battlefields.

I still think we overlooked an opportunity that comes to a nation but once in a century. If we had done that, today we would have in existence the machinery for adjusting these international differences that now threaten the peace of the world. But the League of Nations without reservations, in the form in which it was brought to this shore, would have created, in my opinion, a super-state, a state which would have over- come the American Republic. Therefore these reservations insisted upon by the Senate of the United States were righteous and just.

We are in favor of peace; we want the friendship of every nation on the face of the globe; we are looking for friends, but we are not looking for partners. We prefer to maintain our own independence and preserve our own sovereignty under the dome of our own capitol at Washington.
